What Does the State Lawmaking Process Include?

At its core, the state lawmaking process involves several key steps that mirror the federal legislative process but with unique state-level nuances:

- Bill Introduction: A legislator introduces a bill in either the state House or Senate.
- Committee Review: The bill is assigned to a committee that studies, amends, and votes on it.
- Debate and Voting: If approved by the committee, the bill goes to the floor for debate and voting.
- Second Chamber Approval: The bill must pass the other legislative chamber in a similar process.
- Governor's Action: The governor can sign the bill into law, veto it, or allow it to become law without a signature.
